We have the music, now you make the film...

*CALL FOR SUBMISSIONS***

BBC Film Network, Electric Proms and New Talent are challenging filmmakers to make original new films inspired by new music tracks.

You'll get to work with Warp Films and up to £5,000 to make your film, which will be premiered at the BBC Electric Proms in October, and showcased online at BBC Film Network.

Leading independent record labels Ninja Tune, 679, Warp and Domino have provided tracks from their latest releases including The Cinematic Orchestra, King Creosote, Wiley, The Earlies, Gravenhurst, Lightspeed Champion and James Yorkston.

We want you to submit creative ideas for films that either use or are inspired by these tracks. This could be anything from a music promo, moving visual images, a short drama or even a documentary.
